THE COXEY EPISODE.

THE COMMONWEAL ARMY PARADE THE STREETS OF WASHINGTON CITY.

COXEY NOT ALLOWED TO SPEAK ON THE CAPITOL STEPS.

He Enters a Protest—Brown and Jones Arrested—Their Crime was Stepping on the Grass and Flowers—They are now Being Tried—The Army still in Camp in Washington—Recruits Coming.

We clip the following account of the Coxey episode at the Capital from the National Watchman, (Washington, D. C.):

The commonweal army made its parade on the 1st, according to programme, attended by an immense crowd and intense excitement.

More than 150,000 people witnessed the parade, and at least 30,000 gathered on the Capitol grounds to see Mr. Coxey present his petition to Congress. At every stage of the proceedings Mr. Coxey scored a victory. The authorities were compelled to grant a permit to parade, to let them have a band and carry their banners. When Mr. Coxey arrived at the steps of the Capitol, escorted by a squad of police, he was met by the Captain of the Capitol police, Capt. Austin, Lieut. Amiss, Lieut. Swindells and a number of other officials of the police department. Mr. Coxey was cool and calm, but in a moment his voice became excited as he addressed the captain of the Capitol police.

"Is this the representative of Col. Bright?" he said.

"I am the captain of the Capitol police."

"Then," said Mr. Coxey, "I demand the right to deliver an address to the people. I make this demand in the name of the people of the American nation, and I demand the assistance and protection of the Capitol police while I do so."

A crowd of more than 25,000 people was standing around watching for the next developments. This conversation was held in a low tone of voice, and audible to a few people only.

"You can't make any address here," said the captain of the police.

"Then I demand the right to enter and read a protest." said Mr. Coxey, and he drew out of his pocket a typewritten paper of a couple of pages. He offered to read the paper, but he was told that he must not do so, if it was lengthy or in any way resembled an address or harangue.

"Then I will submit this paper to you," said Mr. Coxey, and he handed it to the captain. In his dignified and courageous manner Mr. Coxey accomplished his mission. The protest will speak for itself. It will go down in history as the first protest against abridging free speech and the right of petition that has been made in the face of the brutality of a policeman's club. Read it carefully.

MR. COXEY'S PROTEST.

The protest which Mr. Coxey endeavored to have the captain of the Capitol police receive in the name of the commonweal was given to the newspaper men. It reads as follows:

The Constitution of the United States guarantees to all citizens the right to peacefully assemble and petition for redress of grievances, and, furthermore, declares that the right of free speech shall not be abridged.

We stand here to-day to test these guarantees of our Constitution. We chose this place of assemblage because it is the property of the people, and if it be true that the right of the people to peacefully assemble upon their own premises and with their petitions has been abridged by the passage of laws in direct violation of the Constitution we are here to draw the eyes of the nation to this shameful fact.

Here, rather than at any spot upon the continent, it is fitting that we should come to mourn over our protest arouse the imperiled nation to such action as shall rescue the Constitution and resurrect our liberty. Upon these steps where we stand has been spread a carpet for the royal feet of a foreign princess, the cost of whose lavish entertainment was taken from the public treasury without the consent or the approval of the people.

Up these steps the lobbyists of trusts and corporations have passed unchallenged on their way to committee rooms to which we, the representatives of the toiling wealth producers, have been denied. We stand here to-day in behalf of millions of toilers whose petitions have been buried in committee rooms, whose prayers have been unresponded to and whose opportunities for honest, remunerative productive labor have been taken from them by unjust legislation, which protects idlers, speculators and gamblers. We come to remind Congress here assembled of the declarations of a United States Senator "that for a quarter of a century the rich have been growing richer, the poor poorer, and that by the close of the present century the middle class will have disappeared, as the struggle for existence becomes fierce and relentless. We stand here to remind Congress of its promise of returning prosperity should the Sherman act be repealed.

We stand here to declare by our march of over 500 miles through difficulties and distress, a march unstained by even the slightest act which will bring the blusa of shame to any, that we are law-abiding citizens, and as such our actions speak louder than words. We are here to petition for legislation which will furnish employment for every man able and willing to work, for legislation which will bring universal prosperity and emancipate our beloved country from financial bondage to the descendants of King George.

"We have come to the only source which is competent to aid the people in their day of dire distress. We are here to tell our representatives, who hold their seats by grace of our ballots, that the struggle for existence has become too fierce and relentless. We come and throw up our defenseless hands and say, 'flip or we and our loved ones must perish.'" We are engaged in a bitter and cruel war with the enemies of all mankind. A war with hunger, wretchedness and despair, and we ask Congress to heed our petitions and issue for the nation's good a sufficient volume of the same kind of money which carried the country through one awful war and saved the life of the nation. In the name of justice, through whose impartial administration only the present civilization can be maintained and perpetuated, by the powers of the Constitution of our country, upon which the liberties of the people must depend, and in the name of the Commonweal of Christ, whose representatives we are, we enter a most solemn and earnest protest against this unnecessary and cruel act of usurpation and tyranny, and this enforced subjugation of the rights and privileges of American citizenship. We have assembled here, in violation of no just laws, to enjoy the privileges of every American citizen.

We are under the shadow of the Capitol of this great nation and in the presence of our national legislators are refused that dearly-bought privilege, and by the force of arbitrary power prevented from carrying out the desire of our hearts, which is plainly granted under the great Magna Charta of our national liberties.

We have come here through toil and weary marches, through storms and tempest, over mountains and amid the trials of poverty and distress, to lay our grievances at the doors of our national legislators and ask them in the name of Him whose banners we bear, in the name of Him who pleads for the poor and the oppressed, that they should heed the voice of despair and distress that is now coming up from every section of our country; that they should consider the conditions of the starving unemployed of our land and enact such laws as will give them employment, bring happier conditions to the people and the smile of contentment to our citizens.

Coming as we do, with peace and good will to men, we shall have to submit to these laws, unjust as they are, and obey this mandate of authority of might which overrides and outrages the law of right. In doing so we appeal to every peace-loving citizen, every liberty-loving man or woman, every one in whose breath the fires of patriotism and love of country has not died out, to assist us in our efforts toward better laws and general benefits.

J. S. COXEY,
Commander of the Commonweal of Christ.

Messrs Brown and Jones were arrested for tresspassing on the Capitol Grounds the same as 20,000 other people did at that time. A sergeant of police told us, that these men were singled out, not because they had done any more than others, but because they were not wanted in the city. They were immediately bailed out and are now being tried in court here for this offense(?) The best citizens of the city are enraged over the matter and both the police and militia are severely condemned. We want the people of the country to understand this one point, and we vouch for its truthfulness: Not a single member of the army of the commonweal has been arrested for breaking the laws since the army has been here. It is said that 500 militia were concealed in the basement of the Capitol, fully armed and prepared to fire on the multitude at a moment's warning. When the appropriation bills come up for this district there will doubtless be some very plain talk about this matter.

N. C. TEACHERS' ASSEMBLY.

The North Carolina Teachers' Assembly, which is the largest State educational organization in the United States, will meet in its eleventh annual convention in its own handsome building at Morehead City, N. C., on June 19 and continue in session until July 3.

Morehead City is one of the most delightful and popular seaside resorts on the Atlantic Coast. It is the only summer resort where combined pleasures of fishing, sailing, boating, bathing and shooting of the finest quality may be enjoyed to such an unliminted degree. The immense Atlantic Hotel, which is the home of the Assembly, will furnish the best of entertainment during the session to the teachers and their friends for only $1.00 a day. Accommodations may be secured in advance upon application to Mr. B. L. Perry, Proprietor, Morehead City, N. C.

The work of the coming session of the Assembly will be more interesting and valuable to teachers than ever before. The subjects to be discussed are new and timely, and the very largest experience and ability of the most prominent of North Carolina teachers will be given to the consideration of every question. There have also been made engagements with some of the most noted educators of other States, who will be present on the occasion, and it will be truly a pleasure to meet Dr. J. M. Rice, the famous apostle of reform, whose articles in The Forum have attracted world wide attention; Mr. C. W. Bardeen, the brilliant speaker and writer, and editor of The School Bulletin, Syracuse, N. Y.; Mrs. Ellen K. Hooker, principal of the famous co-educational institution, Sage College, at Ithaca, N. Y.; Prof. W. R. McDaniel, of Western Maryland College, and other leaders in educational thought.

Railroad rates to the Assembly are very low, and tickets will be on sale June 15 to 30, with limit of return until July 15. Assembly membership coupons will be attached to each ticket, which will entitle the holder to all privileges of the session. Baggage may be checked through to Morehead City from any point in the State, thus saving all trouble of transferring at Goldsboro.

The approaching session of the Assembly will be, in many respects, the largest and best in its history. The many new and attractive features of the work and entertainment will bring together such a company of our leading teachers and friends of education as has rarely been seen in the South. There will be unlimited facilities for "rest, recreation and mutual improvement," such as every teacher so greatly needs at the close of the school term.

Programe and other information concerning the Assembly may be obtained of the Secratary upon application.

DEALINGS IN FUTURES.

Missouri Courts Hold to be Gambling, and Money So Lost Can be Recovered.

(By Telegraph to the Morning Star.)

St. Louis, May 2.—There was considerable alarm manifested upon the floor of the Merchants' Exchange yesterday, when the decision was announced in the case of Connors against Black, tried at Memphis, Mo. The courts holds that in all sales made upon margins, unless the parties actually intended to receive or deliver the amount of grain itself, involved in the contract, the transaction is gambling pure and simple, and the money so lost can be recovered. Black bought oats through Connors, a broker, and after putting up $5,000 in margins, to protect his option, defaulted on further payments and was sued by Connors, who carried the oats through to a loss. The finding of the court is based on a decision of the State Supreme Court.

No other medicine has equalled Hood's Sarsaparilla in the relief it gives in severe cases of dyspepsia, sick headache, etc.

THESE ARE FACTS, NOT A THEORY.

NATIONALIZE THE RAILROADS.

The Benefits Are Known—It is No More a Mere Theory.—Will Some of the Old Party Politicians Deny These Facts or Try to Answer them?

(The Ultrurian.)

In these days of trusts and consolidations, strikes and cut-downs between labor and railroads, it may be interesting to note what has been and can be done to remedy these evils. We never hear of any strikes, cut-downs or labor troubles on the railroads of Australia, and why? Because the government owns and operates them in the interest of the people.

In Australia you can ride a distance of 1,000 miles across the country for $6.50, first-class, too, while workingmen can ride six miles for 2 cents, twelve miles for 4 cents, thirty miles for 10 cents, etc., and railroad men recieve 25 to 30 per cent more wages for eight hours of labor than they are paid in this country for ten hours of toil.

In Victoria, where the above rates prevail, the net income from the roads last year was sufficient to pay all the federal taxes.

In Hungray, where the roads are state owned, you can ride six miles for 1 cent and since the government bought the roads, wages have doubled. Belgium tells the same story—fares and freight rates cut down one-half and wages doubled.

Yet the roads pay a yearly revenue to the government of $4,000,000.

In Germany you can ride four miles for 1 cent on the government owned lines. Yet wages are over 120 per cent higher than they were when the private corporations owned them, and during the last ten years the net profits have increased 41 per cent. Last year the roads paid the German government a net profit of $25,000,000. Workingmen and farmers, if you like such rates as these, vote the People's party ticket.

If our government owned the railroads we could go to San Francisco from Boston for $10. Look at the proof:

Uncle Sam pays the railroads not quite $275 to transport a loaded postal car from Boston to San Francisco. A passenger car will carry fifty passengers, which, at $10 each, would be $500, or a clear profit of $225 a car, and this, too, after paying 5½ per cent on watered stock, which is fully 100 per cent on the cost of the roads.

To show how our railroads have watered their stock I point to the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad which which, when the Vanderbilts obtained control in 1869, was capitalized at $19,000,000. They at once watered it up to $90,000,000, more water has been added until the present capital stock is $146,000,000—all but $45,000,000 being water.

Government ownership would save the people the gigantic sum of $1,000,000,000 a year and bring shorter hours and better pay to the 700,000 railroad employes.

A TOBACCO TRUST.

The American Tobacco Company Declared by the Attorney General of Illinois to be an Odious Combination in Violation of the State Statutes.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Attorney General Maloney has declared the American Tobacco Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of New Jersey, to be a trust doing business in violation of the law of the State, and will commence proceedings in Chancery against the concern, its agents and servants, for the purpose of prohibiting them from doing business in Illinois. Evidence on this point was submitted to the Attorney General several months ago, but it was not until noon to-day that his opinion was prepared and ready for announcement. It is couched in vigorous language. The corporations forming the trust are the Allen & Ginter Co., of Virginia; W. S. Kimball & Co., of Rochester, N. Y.; Goodwin & Co., of New York; W. Dukes, Sons & Co of North Carolina, and the Kinney Tobacco Co. The opinion says that this company is one of the most ingenious, odious, dangerous and gigantic trusts in America and that means in the world. It has attempted to take the law into partnership. It assumes a legal-guise in order to conceal its nefarious purposes, so that it might more conveniently and successfully carry out its illegal and vicious ends. It verifies the old saying that "devils when first formed take pleasing shape." The corporation was conceived in fraud and habilitated by a resort to duplicity and concealment. It does not pretend to be other than a trust, and consequently does not assure a virture that it has not. Hence it is more rank and open than its neighbors, the Standard oil trust, the whiskey trust, the school furniture trust and the book trust. Such a combination, though clothed in habiliments loaned it by the State of New Jersey, cannot nevertheless violate the laws of the State of Illinois nor longer impose upon its people. It is doing business in violation of the State statutes and is obnoxious to the common law. It is the duty of the Attorney-General to take the initiative in prohibiting it from doing business in this State.

Why does not the Attorney-General of North Carolina take similar steps.?

"ZEB VANCE IS DEAD."

A Prose Poem That is a Gem.—In Rythm and Beauty of Expression is Worthy of Longfellow.

From the proceedings of the big citizens memorial meeting at Charlotte, we clip the following giving Mr. Tillett's superb tribute to the dead patriot:

The gem of all the talks was reserved for last—that of Mr. C. W. Tillett. From the moment he repeated the first sad words—"Zeb Vance is dead"—through every tear-bedimmed utterance, the people sat enrapt, and handkerchief after handkerchief went face-ward to catch the falling tears:

"Zeb Vance is dead! Few and short are these cruel words which men with lips compressed and cheeks all blanched have whispered one to another; and yet they bear the message of the greatest grief which ever yet has filled the Old North State.

"Zeb Vance is dead! Ring out the funeral bells and let their mournful tones re echo in the empty chambers of the hearts once filled with gladsome sounds of his loved voice.

"Zeb Vance is dead! And mirth herself hath put on mourning: and laughter, child of his most genial brain, hath hid her face in tears.

"Zeb Vance is dead! The fires of party strife are quenched; and throbbing hearts and tear-beclouded eyes tell more than words of grandest eloquence the anguish of the people's minds and how they loved him.

"Zeb Vance is dead! Soldier, statesman, patriot, friend! In war and peace, the one of all her sons to whom his mother State looked most for succor and relief; and can it be that in the days to come, when dreaded dangers threaten all around, we nevermore can call for him before whose matchless powers in days gone by our enemies have quailed and fled?

"Zeb Vance is dead! His was a name you could conjure with, and and oftimes in the past, when this loved Commonwealth of ours has been stirred to its inmost depths, and men knew not which way to go nor what to say, the cry was sounded forth that 'Vance is coming,' and from the mountain fastness of the west and the everglades of the eastern plains, the people came who never would come forth to hear another living man, and gathering around in countless multitudes, they hung upon his every word with eager eye and listening ear, and all he told them they believed because 'our Vance' had said it.

"Zeb Vance is dead! And where shall come the man to tell the world the soul-inspiring story of his herolife? How, coming forth from humble home, he battled and o'ercame the fates that would have crushed beneath their feet a man of meaner mould; how serving faithfully and well in every trust committed unto him, he soon won first place in the hearts of all his countrymen and held that place for three score years unto the end; how when his native land was plunged in throes of civil strife, he went forth in the front rank to defend and save her and fought with valor all her foes; how called to rule as chief executive in times that tried men's souls he ruled so wisely and so well; how when the war was over and the cause was lost,—when down upon his bleeding, prostrate country came the horde of vampires from the North to suck the last remaining drops of life blood from his people, he rose with power almost divine and drove them back; and then with gentle hand he caused the wounds to heal and his loved land to prosper once again as in the years gone by; and how at last, when after years of faithful, honest toil, upon his noble form was laid the icy hand of death, he bowed his head in meek submission to His will and yielded up to God his manly soul! Who can be found to sing the praise of such a one, and who can speak the anguish of the peoples' hearts at his untimely death?

"Zeb Vance is dead! He was the friend and tribune of the people. Though he rose to place where he held converse with the great and mighty of the earth, his sympathetic heart was open wide to all mankind, and his strong arm was first stretched forth to lift the lowliest of the sons of men that cried to him for help, and in the Nation's Senate Halls his voice was ever lifted up to plead the cause of the down-trodden and oppressed against the favored classes and the money kings.

"Zeb Vance is dead! And when he died, a poor man died; for though he stood where oft there was within his grasp the gains of millions if he would but swerve from right and reach it, he cast it all aside with scorn, and dying, left his sons and all the people of his land the priceless legacy of an honest and untarnished name.

"Zeb Vance is dead! And yet he lives; the influence of his noble words and honest life can never die; and in the year to come men gathering round their firesides at the evening hour shall tell their sons of him and how he scorned a lie and scorned dishonest gains.

"Zeb Vance is dead! But he shall live forever more. Oh, blessed truth, which Mary's Son, the Godman, taught when standing near the tomb with His all-conquering foot upon the skull of death, He called forth Lazarus unto life, and told a listening world the thrilling truth that whosoever lived and in His name believed should never die.

"Zeb Vance is dead! If it be truth.
'That men may rise on stepping stones.
Of their dead selves to higher things.'
"Oh, grander truth, that a nation too may rise on stepping stones of her dead hero-sons unto a higher life. And God vouchsafe that our own State, while weeping o'er the grave of him, her best-loved, most honored son, may yet be thereby lifted into a grander, nobler life."

LINES OF WISDOM.

Roseboro, N. C.

Looking over some old papers not long since I came across some remarks written by my uncle who was killed in the late war. Thinking they might prove a benefit to some one, decided I would send them to THE CAUCASIAN for publication.

A FEW WISE REMARKS.

Let your thoughts be divine, lawful and chaste.

Let your conversation be brief, honest, true.

Let your works be profitable, holy, charitable.

Let your manners be grave, courteous, cheerful.

Let your diet be temperate, convenient, sober.

Let your apparel be frugal, neat, comely.

Let your will be constant, obedient, ready.

Let your sleep be moderate, quiet, seasonable.

Let your prayers be short, frequent, fervent.

Let your recreation be lawful, suitable, seldom.

Let memory be of death, punishment, glory.

Hear and learn to be silent;
Be silent and learn to understand;
Understand and learn to remember;
Remember and learn to do accordingly.

All that you see judge not,
All that you hear believe not,
All that you know tell not,
All that you can do do not.

The following admirable lines were inscribed upon a golden crown having five sides, which was found in the tomb of Noosherwon:

First side—"Consider the end before you begin, and before you advance provide a retreat."

"Give not unnecessary pain to any man, but study the happiness of all. Ground not your diguity upon your power to hurt others."

Second side—"Take counsel before you commence any measures, and never trust to its execution to the inexperienced."

"Sacrifice your property for your life, and your life for your religion."

"Spend your time in establishing a good name, and if you desire fortune, learn contentment.'

Third side—"Grieve not for that which is broken, stolen, burnt, or lost."

"Never give orders in another man's house; accustom yourself to eat your bread at your own table."

"Make not yourself the captive of women."

Fourth side—"Take not a wife from a bad family, and seat not yourself with those who have no shame."

"Keep thyself at a distance from those who are incorrigble in bad habits; and hold no intercourse with that man who is insensible to kindness."

"Covet not the goods of others."

"Be sensible of your own value; estimate justly the worth of others; and war not with those who are far above thee in fortune."

Fifth side—"Be envious of no man, and avoid being out of temper, or thy life will pass in misery."

"Respect and protect the females of thy family."

"Be not the slave of anger; and in thy contests always leave open the door of conciliation."

"Never let your expense exceed your income."

"Plant young trees or you cannot expect to cut down an old one."

"Stretch your legs no farther than the size of your carpet."

Sincerely,
A REFORMER.

CAPT. ASHE AND CAPT. LLOYD.

CAPT. LLOYD MAKES A FAIR PROPOSITION, CAPT. ASHE DECLINES.

A Question Which the Latter Will Not Answer, Neither Will he Give the Former a Hearing.

Tarboro, N. C., April 26th, '94.

EDITOR OF THE CAUCASIAN:—On April 17th, I mailed a communication, to the Editor of the News-Observer-Chronicle, in reply to a comment made by the News-Observer-Chronicle, upon an aticle that I wrote to the Messenger. Sufficient time elapsed for the article to appear in the News-Observer Chronicle, and as it was not published I wrote Capt. Ashe, and requesting him to do me the justice to grant a reply, or else return my article. As yet I have not received a reply, nor has my letter been published.

However, I kept a copy, which is as follows:

Tarboro, N. C.
April 17th, 1894.

Capt. S. A. Ashe, Editor News-Observer-Chronicle:

Dear Sir:—In your issue of the 14th, instant there was an editorial comment upon a paragraph, written by me, to the Wilmington Messenger, and I trust you will do me the justice to grant a reply to the editorial.

You say that you "do not propose to discuss at this time what the Democratic party has done, it is because it would be unfair to the party to be judged by what has been done so far." You can not deny that the Democratic party has been in power thirteen months, and if it was the real party of reform some remedial legislation would have been enacted before this long lapse of time.

Of course you "do not propose to discuss," with me what the party has done, for everybody knows that its policy has been of the do-nothing character, and you can not defend its non-action and faithlessness to its pledges!

There are sins of omission just as grievous as those of commission, and it is now very patent that the Democratic party won its great victory in 1892 on false pretenses.

It stands, however, indicted now before the bar of public opinion, and is on trial for its life.

The Democratic party has had a grand opportunity to perpetuate its lease of power by restoring prosperity to the country, by bettering conditions so that the idle and unemployed might secure work and a living compensation for their efforts.

Now, Capt. Ashe, in view of the fact that the Messenger unjustly accuses me of desiring office, as a reason for my leaving the Democratic party, I will make this proposition to you and the Messenger: If the party gives relief to the distressed and suffering millions in this country, if it res ores prosperity and happiness by the enactment of just laws, if it measures up to its possibilities, then I will return to the fold, and direct my efforts toward the advancement of the party.

On the contrary, if it fails to do these things will you and the Messenger join the People's party and advocate its claims?

This is a fair proposition.

Your party is now like a ship at sea without compass or rudder, and we may properly inquire, "Where are you at?"

JAMES B. LLOYD.

Later since the above communication was mailed to THE CAUCASIAN I received a letter from Capt. Ashe, enclosing the article written to his paper. He refused to published it.

OUR 26 U. S. SENATORS.

Who They Were and How Distributed as to the Sections.

(Fayettville Observer.)

We have had, all told, twenty-six Senators—that is, twenty-six different individuals who have been Senator from North Carolina.

From the North East have come eight, viz: Johnston, Stone, Branch, Iredell, Bragg, Briggs, Pool and Ransom. Johnston and Iredell were from the same county Chowan. Bragg and Ransom were born in the same county, Warren(of the Centre), and appointed from the same county, Northampton (of the North East).

From what is called the Centre, (but more appropriately would be called the North Centre, no Senator ever having come from the South Centre), we have had seven, viz: Hawkins, Turner, Macon, Mangum, Graham, Haywood, and Badger. Of these, Hawkins, Turner and Macon were from Warren, making, with Bragg and Ransom five natives of of that county out of our twenty-six Senators.

From what is called the North West, (Guilford, Wilkes, Caswell, Rockingham, &c.,) we have had five, viz: Martin, Franklin, Stokes, Brown and Reid.

From what is called the South East, three, viz: Bloodworth, Strange and Abbott.

From the West, three, viz: Clingman, Merrimon and Vance.

It will be seen from the above how far we have departed from an approximation, even, to fair distribution of Senatorial honors by sections. But the inequality become more glaring still when it is remembered that the Centre and the North East are historically one, being, in effect, the old Albamarle Colony, and having had, as such, fifteen of the twenty-six Senators; whereas the South East, or Cape Fear section, which is, in effect, the old Clarendon Colony, has had but three!

THE CAUCASIAN JUSTIFIED.

THE CAUCASIAN has always advocated pure Democracy. We warned the people that the tendency of the leaders of the Democratic party was away from Democracy towards the dangerous evils of monopoly. We served notice on the machine, that if it did not retrace its steps, that if it tried further to betray Democracy and fool the people, that we would refuse to follow. We gave notice that we would not stand by and keep silent while the unholy trade was made. We told the people that we would give them warning.

When the machine backed by the gold-bugs and monopolists foistered Cleveland on the people in the name of Democracy, we refused to follow. THE CAUCASIAN stood true to its Democracy and the people; the time had come when we promised to give the people warning. Then we denounced the fraud, we told the people that the principles of good government had been sacrificed, and that they were betrayed in the name of Democray.

For thus telling the truth, defending Demacratic principles, and standing by the people, THE CAUCASIAN was denounced and howled at by all the machine papers in the State. The arch traitors of Democracy sought to hide their betrayal of the people by crying "turn coat" and "traitor" at THE CAUCASIAN. But THE CAUCASIAN stood true to its convictions regardless of the villanous calumny.

Several months ago when the predictions of THE CAUCASIAN were being verified by the cruel realities of Democratic hypocracy, THE CAUCASIAN made another prediction. We said that the machine fearing that the people would realize the truth and therefore entirely desert them, would soon change their front. We said that they would denounce Cleveland to try to fool the people again. We warned the people that they would do this because the next was not a Presidential election and they would be willing to do anything to carry the next legislature. This prediction is also coming true. The machine papers that were only a few months ago howling for unconditional repeal of silver, or anything else that the great Grover, the ponderous gold-bug wants, are now changing their tune.

It is just as we predicted, the machine papers see that the people will not follow any further the gold-bugs, even though they carry the Democratic flag. But the people know that this change of tune is not from any change of heart, but the hedging and duplicity of traitors and unprincipled politicians. They want to save the State machine which they will use again in 1896 to help elect another gold-bug President. If the People's party were not so strong in North Carolina, this change of tune would never have occured. They are driven to this device because THE CAUCASIAN and other reform papers have put the truth before the people; and the same power that has driven them to this "device" will expose it so that the people will not be fooled by it. THE CAUCASIAN is being justified, but let the people watch the traitors.

Can a man be a good Christian and support the Democratic machine in North Carolina this year?

AN EXTRACT FROM A PRIVATE LETTER.

A man to whom we had sent a sample copy of THE CAUCASIAN, writes:

"I used to hate the very name of your paper. One year ago I wouldn't have read a copy if it had been offered me. But the sample copy which you sent me a few days ago was read through. I used to think you were all wrong, and I am not sure yet that you are all right, but one thing I do know and that is something is badly wrong with the country. As Col. Skinner said in that speech which you published, 'somebody has blundered' and that bad. And I have about lost hope of the Democratic party making things better. The leaders of my party told the people that if they would vote for Cleveland there would be change. I believed it. I got several men to vote with us promising them that there would be a change. Now they tell me there has been a change but for the worse, and I can't deny it. I don't want to see any more such changes myself. It is hard on a man's pocket book, hard on his stomach, hard on politics and hard on his religion. I am now ready to vote for any party that will give a change for the better. I send you $1.00 for which send me THE CAUCASIAN and I will see what you to offer.

THE DANGER OF OVERCONFIDENCE.

The letters that we are receiving daily from every quarter of the State are all hopeful. They all speak of the bright outlook for the Reform cause. But there is a spirit of overconfidence shown in most of these letters that we regret. Over-confidence has lost many a battle. The man who thinks that the Democratic machine is dead, will soon learn to the contrary to his sorrow. It is true that the record of the Democratic party is enough to damn and defeat it. But they can not be defeated without we have organization, wise management and hard fighting in every neighborhood in the State. The Democrats are in power, they have the machinery, they have the daily press, they can command a large campaign fund—in short they have everything but the votes, and they will get those if we will let them. It is true the Democratic leaders are uneasy, but it is also true that there is nothing harder to beat than a scared Democrat. When they get scared they get desperate. They work and they work like Trojans. They don't depend upon stealing alone to carry an election. They try to carry every election by work. Everybody in touch with the machine works. They work day and night. Where work fails then they resort to stealing when they dare to. But stealing can't be done this year as it was last. The people will not tolerate it and the machine knows it. Therefore they will work harder than ever to get the votes. They will persuade, they will beg, they will intimidate, they will try to buy with money. But that is neither here nor there. If we will do our duty, if we will work as hard as they do, we will beat them. The record of the Democratic party does not mean that they will be beaten. It simply gives us an opportunity. It gives the people an opportunity to crush the machine. Will we use the opportunity? That is the question. Let every Reformer buckle on his armour and commence the fight. We can win if we will.

The News-Observer-Chronicle says that it does not agree with Thomas Jefferson on financial questions especially the banking question. We have suspected this all along. We are glad Capt. Ashe has at last decided to stop sailing under false colors. Thos. Jefferson was opposed to banks of issue. Capt. Ashe says he was wrong. Pay your money and take your choice. Capt. Ashe is not a Democrat. But if Thos. Jefferson were to arise from his grave to-day and find that Capt. Ashe and his crowd had stolen the name Democracy to cloak the policy of Alexander Hamilton then he would join the People's party or start a party that did represent the principles of Democracy.

STILL PERSECUTING VANCE.

The following from the Charlotte Observer is being copied by all those machine papers that persecuted Vance while living:

"Ransom at Vance's Bier.

A great North Carolinian lay dead and Gen. Ransom demonstrated at his bier that a great one remains. As Vance shed lustre upon the State by his own illustrious career, so Ransom demonstrated before the Senate and country, in his announcement and eulogy, that he was worthy to have been the dead man's yoke-fellow."

Ransom a yoke-fellow for Vance indeed! It is enough to make the old hero and patriot turn over in his grave. Those Ransom organs that persecuted Vance while living should now have more respect for the dead than publish such articles as the above. It is a slander on a great and pure man.

On April the 12th the goldbugs and monopolists who masquerade as Democrats held meetings in many places in the United States in celebration of the birth-day of Thos. Jefferson. They made speeches defending the present record of the Democratic party, but not a single speaker quoted a line ever written or spoken by that great statesman to sustain their position. If a man had arisen in one of these meetings and quoted what Jefferson said about banks of issue being dangerous to the liberties of the people, and that the issuing of currency should be by the people through congress, he would have been howled and hissed down as a crank and a Populist. The Democratic party to-day reminds us very much of a long-eared mule. It has no pride in its ancestry and no visible hope of posterity.

A GOLDBUG ADMISSION.

The Richmond Dispatch, a southern goldbug paper, makes the following admission in a recent editorial:

"The southern people who desire more silver, or more greenbacks, or more currency of any kind, might as well make up their minds that their arguments have made not even the slightest impression upon the moneyed men in the North."

The only way to make an impression on these goldbug anarchists is to beat the two parties that they now control.

John Sherman is as good a Democrat as Grover Cleveland.

253 MAJORITY.

A VICTORY FOR GOOD GOVERNMENT AT ASHEVILLE.

The People Smash the Democratic Machine and Redeem the City.

[Special to THE CAUCASIAN.]

ASHEVILLE, N. C., May 7th.

The city election to-day was hotly contested. The people arose in their might and smashed the Democratic machine. The People's ticket elected by 253 majority. This is an indication of what the people will do in November.

The Democratic press is trying to jubilate because the Third Ohio district has gone Democratic. A special election was held there the other day to fill a vacancy caused by the death of the late congressman Houk, (Dem). In the first place the district has always been a Democratic stronghold. Houk (Dem) carried the district in 1892 by 4,316 majority. Now it goes Democratic by only 1,636 majority, a loss of 2,780. These are the facts. We can't see why the Democrats rejoice. But it may be that in view of their record, they did not expect there would not be anybody in the district fool enough to vote for them, and it is a little strange.

COXEY HELPING PLUTOCRACY.

The conservative Reformers of the country believe in the ballot box. There is the place to redress grievances. There and there only is every citizen equal in power for good or evil. Experience has shown that it is foolish for laborers who are oppressed to resort to strikes. The methods of Coxey are still more foolish. We believe that Mr. Coxey is an honest and patriotic citizen, but like many good and over-enthusiastic men he is hurting the cause of those he desires to help. Let him take Senator Stewart's advice—"go home and march on the ballot box." When any portion of the people act foolishly, it is always a feather in the cap of plutocracy.

If you were to start out and ask every man you met how much the President of the United States cost the people a year, ninety-nine out of every hundred would say $50,000. Everybody knows that is what the law says his salary shall be, but that is not the half of what he draws in cash each year. From time to time special statutes have been passed adding this extra and that till the sum of these extras is $25,000 more than the salary. In short the President costs you $125,000 a year.

KEEP DOWN SIDE ISSUES.

We notice a tendency in certain quarters to raise side issues in the coming campaign. This should be guarded against. The next campaign should be focused on one or two leading issues. It would be a shrewd game for the enemies of reform to play if they could get us to take up issues that they have no record on. If we voluntarily take up such issues ourselves it would be just as bad a mistake as we were fooled into doing so. There are many meritous reforms that it is not wise to take up this year.

"I undertake to affirm, without fear of contradiction, that a paper issued by the government with the simple promise to receive it for all dues, would be as uniform in its value as the metals themselves."—John C. Calhoun, Democrat.

If Calhoun was a Democrat, what is Ransom, Jarvis and Cleveland?

STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS.

Mr. Geo. F. Washburn, of the National Ex. Com. of the People's party in a recent letter, says:

"What shall we do to be saved from the mortgage fiend at home and the Shylocks abroad? We outnumber them a hundred to one, but none the less we are their bond slaves and cringe like whipped hounds under the scorpion lash of their money panics, when we ought to rise and brush them like cobwebs from our path.

"What is the secret of their power and our weakness? Simply this: they act in harmony and never for one instant forget their own devilish interests. We are spasmodic in our efforts and act in a dismembered, disjointed manner, when every individual effort should be conserved and directed to form a part of the aggregate, the universal struggle for industrial emancipation. Do you see the difference?

"There is genius, intelligence, enthusiasm enough latent in the hearts and brains of our people were it awakened, organized and focused on one definite purpose, to carry us on with irresistible might to magnificent victory."

This is wise, sound and well said. Let the members of the People's party at once organize in every township and neighborhood. Don't allow any side issues to arise in this fight. Center every energy and vote on more money, home rule and an honest election. When this is won we can take up other issues.

"What is a Populist?" inquires an exchange.

Easy!

A Jeffersonian Democrat, or a Lincoln Republican.—The Road.

WHERE WILL YOU BE AT?

The program of the State Democratic machine is now clearly given out. They say that if they attempt to carry Cleveland and the Democratic administration in next campaign the party will be defeated. This is an admission that they would carry Cleveland if it was not for the knowledge that has gotten to the people. If there were no People's party papers in the State the machine would no doubt endorse Cleveland and Ransom. But the program now is to neither endorse nor condemn the National administration at the State convention. This will be a cowardly dodging position and North Carolinians will not endorse it. If Cleveland is right the machine should endorse and stand by him, if he is wrong they should condemn him in no uncertain sound. This is the only honest and manly course to pursue. But let this be as it may, the Democratic machine in North Carolina and in no other State can not go before the people and say that they are not responsible for the actions of Grover Cleveland and the Democratic administration. Is not the Democratic party of North Carolina a part of the National Democratic organization? What is the National Democratic party but the joint action of the party in the several States? Is not a man responsible for the action of his party? Can a military company stay in an army and not support and hold up the hands of the officers of the army? When the Fayetteville Light Infantry could not endorse the action of the whole body of State troops and officers, it withdrew from the organization. This was the only consistant thing to do.

Now if the Democratic machine of North Carolina is honest, if it is not trying to fool the people, let it boldly withdraw from the National organization and declare that it will no longer affiliate with it. But if instead of dcing this, it dodges and dodges, tries to throw national issues into the back ground and run a State ticket just for this time, then the voter may know that this is a "device" (as Capt. Ashe calls it.)

There are fifty thousand men who voted the Democratic ticket in 1892, after much hesitation. They once made many fair promises and pledges. The State machine assured then that the National Democratic party was with the people and that Grover Cleveland was their friend. These men have been cruelly deceived. The State machine realizes this and fears that they will repudiate the party. Hence the "device" of a State campaign. Now let us suppose that these fifty thousand voters should walk into the trap set by the State machine. Let us see what they will do. In 1896 this State machine will send delegates to a National Democratic convention, which will be controlled by the same powers that controlled the last. But the machine will declare that they have put up a man that is all right this time, and urge the people again to support it. Will you vote that ticket again? No, for a burnt child dreads the fire.

"GOV. CARR HAS SUNK HIS INDIVIDUALITY INTO GROVER THE GREAT."

The Richmond Star in an editorial of April 18th, discussing who would succeed the late Senator Vance said:

"There is uneasiness manifested in certain quarters that Governor Carr will appoint a Populist to succeed the late Senator Vance. Why should Carr do such a thing any more than did Governor Northen in selecting a successor to Colquitt? Both men are Democrats. It is true they were once ardent Farmer's Alliancemen; indeed, there was a time when Billy Northen was so anti-plutocratic that he actually snubbed Jay Gould. But he soon outgrew his hostility to 'plutes,' and with Carr, having worked the non-partisan scheme for all it was worth, sunk his individuality in Grover Cleveland."

The above is Democratic authority and shows that THE CAUCASIAN is right when it charges that Gov. Carr has deserted his Alliance principles and surrendered completely to the machine. When he appointed Jarvis, the last doubt was removed. Jarvis is no better than Ransom. They are two of a kind. The only difference is each one wants the same office.

HOOD'S CURES.

In saying that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures, its proprietors make no idle or extravagant claim. The advertising of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason, because it is true; it always appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people, and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements, which in the financial world, would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

FRANKLIN'S BEQUEST TO BOSTON.

The announcement by the Boston papers last week of the fact that the bequest made by Benjamin Franklin to his native city more than a century ago has become available is calculated to revive in the minds of middle-aged readers the recollection of the abstruse arithmetical problems in "compound interest" and the "progressions" with which they were more or less familiar in their school days. Franklin's will bequeathed to Boston the sum of $5,000 to be invested in such manner that principal and interest should go on accumulating for a hundred years. At the end of that period $100,000 was to be retained from the accumulated amount and invested for another century in the same manner as the previous sum had been, the residue to be applied in furtherance of the purposes of the bequest, and this or a similiar process to be repeated at the close of each century.

The original sum of $5,000 had grown to nearly half a million dollars, or, more exactly, to $430,000. After deducting $100,000 for reinvestment on the prescribed plan, there remains in the hands of the trustees of the fund the considerable sum of $330,000 for immediate use. According to the terms of the will this money may be expended for anything that would improve or beautify the city, advance the comfort or happiness of its citizens, attract visitors, or protect the city from enemies." In accordance with the objects thus generally set forth the present trustees have decided to establish and thoroughly equip an institution, to be known as the "Franklin Trade School," on condition that the municipality of the city of Boston shall assume the full charge and expense of its permanent maintenance.—Washington Post.

It is well known that Franklin was a great philanthropist, but THE CAUCASIAN thinks that that foreseeing patriot had another object in view when he made the modest bequest of $5,000 on the conditions that it should draw interest forever. But whether he intended it so or not, it is a striking object lesson on the eating and destructive power of interest. Just think of it, $5,000 at interest since the death of Benjamin Franklin amounts to $430,000. In 1994, it will amount to millions on top of millions.

This teaches, if you are paying interest, stop it as soon as possible; if your government is paying interest and taxing you to raise the money, send men to congress who will stop the fool and ruinous business at once. Think of how Franklin's $5,000 has grown, and then think of how the government's debt—the gold-interest bearing bonds, (which the Democratic party is increasing) are growing. One hundred years from to-day all the property of North Carolina will not pay the interest. Then the money devils will own everything and the people nothing. Elect a People's party congress and save the nation from the thieves that are about to swallow it.

GREAT STATESMAN.

During Cleveland's former administration there was an immense surplus in the Treasury, and Cleveland gave about $58,000,000 of it in premiums to the bondholders for the precious privilege of paying bonds not due. Now there is a deficit of money, and he gives them more bonds, which in turn may produce more fat premiums.

Great statesman, Cleveland is. Makes good times for the bondholders whether the treasury is too full or empty.—Tom Watson, of Georgia.

$1000 Worth

Of Other Medicines Failed

But Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

Mr. Arthur McConnell
Pensacola, Florida.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"One thousand dollars' worth of other medicines, prescriptions, etc., have failed to do for me what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done. My home is in Florida, but in 1884 I went to California and lived there four years. I was taken sick in 1886 and had medical assistance, but found no relief. The doctors said I had chronic bronchitis. I was in the Marine Hospital at San Francisco several months and at Rush Medical College, Chicago, 11 months, but still did not get better, so came back to Pensacola. My weight was then 139 pounds with a heavy overcoat on.

My Friends Did Not Know Me,

I was so thin and broken down. But the climate and being at home gave me a little courage and I began trying various medicines. In August, 1890, I was appointed to a position in the United States custom house. My friends urged my wife to have me try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I took it three times a day just to please her. But to my surprise I commenced to feel differently after a week on Hood's. I found I was hungry and that I could sleep better; that tired feeling also left me. So I continued taking Hood's Sarsaparilla; have used nine bottles and four boxes of Hood's Pills, with the result that weigh 162 pounds, have a good appetite, sleep well, and have not lost a day's work since I began to take this medicine. When everything else has failed, I found that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures." ARTHUR MCCONNELL, United States Barge Office, Pensacola, Florida.

I am Now in Good Health,

A CORRECTION

In last issue we clipped from the Charlotte Observer some complimentary words with reference to a proposed candidate for congress. We credited the Observer with using them toward J. C. Logan Harris, of Raleigh. The Observer calls our attention to the mistake and says that the complimentary language applied to Col. H. C. Jones, of Charlotte. The Observer is right and we were in error. We regret the mistake and gladly make this correction.

A STRANGE CASE.

How an Enemy was Foiled.

The following graphic statement will be read with intense interest: "I cannot describe the numb, creepy sensation that existed in my arms, hands and legs. I had to rub and beat those parts until they were sore, to overcome in a measure the dead feeling that had taken possession of them. In addition, I had a strange weakness in my back and around my waist, together with an indescribable 'gone' feeling in my stomach. Physicians said it was creeping paralysis, from which, according to their universal conclusion, there is no relief. Once it fastens upon a person, they say, it continues its insidious progress until it reaches a vital point and the sufferer dies. Such was my prospect. I had been doctoring a year and a half steadily, but with no particular benefit, when I saw an advertisement of Dr Miles' Restorative Nervine, procured a bottle and began using it. Marvelous as it may seem, but a few days had passed before every bit of that creepy feeling had left me, and there has not been even the slightest indication of its return. I now feel as well as I ever did, and have gained ten pounds in weight, though I had run down from 170 to 137. Four others have used Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine on my recommendation, and it has been as satisfactory in their cases as in mine."—James Kane, La Rue, O.

A small fire was discovered Sunday night in the barn belonging to Henry G. Williams, on West Centre street. The flames were quickly extinguished and the loss is about $50.

No definite program has as yet been announced for Memorial Day. The Goldsboro Rifles will parade and the children of the Graded School will also take part in the exercises at Woodlawn Cemetery.

Judge W. T. Faircloth left Monday for Dallas, Texas. He is a delegate from North Carolina to the Southern Baptist Convention which convenes in Dallas this week. The Judge will be gone about three weeks.

The municipal elections were held Monday and passed off very quietly, the Democratic aldermanic candidates, as published in last week's issue, were elected. In the First ward the local reform party had candidates in the field, but were defeated by the vote of 93 to 52—a majority of 41 for the Democratic nominees.

The local Y. M. C. A. has moved from its old quarters into the Arlington Hotel building where they are now comfortably and conveniently situated. Through the liberality of Mr. Henry Weil and Capt. J. B. Edgerton, the rental of their new location will be but $50 for the year, thus the item of rent will be a saving to the Association of $100.

A painful accident befell little Roscoe Rivenbark while playing around the log cars of the Enterprise Lumber company last Saturday. It seems that the boy with some companions were pushing the cars and in some way two cars collided while young Rivenbark was between them, crushing one of his legs and breaking his collar bone. We learn he is doing very well at this writing.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

The Board met in regular session all the members present.

Jno. B. Hill was appointed keeper of the Whitehall bridge and Louis Hinson of Broadhurst bridge.

Irvin Grantham was made Road Superintendent at $40 per month.

The treasurer's report for April were read and approved.

The Board then adjourned.

A SUGGESTION TO THE TOWN COMMISSIONERS.

The citizens of Goldsboro are not in favor of increasing the city taxes, but we believe they would like to see it apportioned a little differently. If the direct issue had been raised in the election Monday, they would have voted, irrespective of party, to buy a street sprinkler, and to cut down expenses in another quarter to pay for the same. There is more expected of Goldsboro by the outside public, than from a one-horse town.

The Mayor's Annual Report.

The Mayor of Goldsboro, D. J. Broadhurst, made his yearly report to the Board of Alderman at their last regular meeting, from which we make the following extract:

No. of Deaths, 63; of which 28 are white and 35 colored—of these only 4 were from local causes.

No. of Births, 60; 38 white and 22 colored.

Building permits granted cover estimates amounting to $14,925.

No. of Fires, 7; estimated loss to property $4,300.

No. of Arrests for violation of city ordinances, 694, of which 583 were convictions, 98 acquittals, and 13 bound over for trial to the Superior court.

GRAND LODGE I. O. O. F.

Now in Annual Session in Goldsboro.

The State Grand Lodge I. O. O. F met in Annual Session in this city Tuesday. The address of welcome was made by Hon. Chas. B. Aycock. The talented and eloquent speaker was at his best and made every visitor present feel at home. On Wednesday the Grand Lodge, together with the members of Neuse Lodge, were treated to a barbecue at the Odd Fellows' Orphanage here.

Certain Democrats of this county are trying to prejudice the minds of unsuspecting voters against the People's party by them that the numerous clubs which have been organized are nothing but secret political meetings, a thing which is unlawful. These Democrats know that such is untrue when they so state, but to stop their falsifying, we here and now extend to them on behalf of all the clubs of the county, an invitation to attend every club meeting they hear of. But, if this will not do, we will write them a personal letter to that effect, as we know for whom this article is intended.—Clinton Caucasian.

MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Georgia.

DEAR SIRS—I bought a bottle of your P. P. P. at Hot Springs, Ark., and it has done me more good than three months' treatment at the Hot Springs.

Have you no agents in this part of the country, or let me know how much it will cost to get three or six bottles from your city by express.

Respectfully yours,

NEWNANSVILLE, FLA., June 5, '91.

MESSRS. LIPPMAN BROS., Savannah, Georgia.

DEAR SIRS—I wish to give my testimonial in regard to your valuable medicine, P. P. P., for the cure of rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, biliousness, etc. In 1861 I was attacted with bilious muscular rheumatism, and have been a martyr to it ever since. I tried all medicines I ever heard of, and all the doctors in reach, but I found only temporary relief; but pains were so bad at times that I did not care whether I lived or died. My digestion became so impaired that everything I ate disagreed with me. My wife also suffered so intensely with dyspepsia that her life was a burden to her; she would be confined to her bed for weeks at the time; she also suffered greatly from giddiness and loss of sleep. Some time in March I was advised to take P. P. P., and before we (my wife and I) had finished the second bottle of P. P. P., our digestion began to improve. My pains subsided so much that I have been able to work, and am feeling like doing what I haven't done before in a number of years. We will continue taking P. P. P. until we are entirely cured, and will cheerfully recommend it to all suffering humanity.

Yours very respectfully,
J. S. DUPRISS.

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY'S PLATFORM.

THE CAUCASIAN, Goldsboro, N. C.

Dear Sir and Brother:—At a mass meeting of the People's party of Rockingham county, held in the courthouse in Wentworth on the 26th day of April, 1894, the following declarations of principles were adopted and ordered sent to THE CAUCASIAN for publication:

Third—For government control of the money for the benefit of the whole people and no farming or lending of the public credit, which is the property of all the people, to private parties or corporations.

Fourth—The rule of the people against ring and machine rule which money so easily sways.

Fifth—Lower public salaries, more economy and less red tape and tomfoolery.

FULLER GETS A NEW TRIAL.

The Supreme Court has at last rendered its decision in the celebrated case of E. J. Fuller, which has been awaited with so much interest.

Fuller, it will be recalled, was tried at the January term of the Superior Court of Cumberland county, Judge Bryan presiding, for the murder of B. C. Parker, and after a prolonged and exciting contest in which five lawyers spoke on each side, was convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to be hanged March 16th.

Application for a new trial was made, on several grounds, which, after exhaustive argument, Judge Bryan refused. The case then went to the Supreme Court on appeal, which court has just granted a new trial. The result of the next trial will probably be murder in the second degree, the penalty for which is imprisonment.

SLAVERY---BAD LEGISLATION.

The Cause that Produces the Inevitable Result.

Slavery is the inevitable result of poverty; poverty is the inevitable result of low wages; low wages are the inevitable result of scarcity of currency and an improper system of taxation, and scarcity of currency and an improper system of taxation are logical results of an unjust administration of the government.—Beasey's Elements of Economy. THE ARENA.

The King of 19th Century Reviews.---What the May Number Contains.---A Special Offer.

The May Arena closes the ninth volume of this leader among the progressive and reformative reviews of the English-speaking world. The table of contents is very strong and inviting to those interested in live questions and advanced thought. Among the important social and economic problems discussed and ably handled in a brave and fundamental manner, characteristic of this review, are "The First Steps in the Land Question," by Louis F. Post, the eminent Single-Tax leader; "The Philosophy of Mutualism," by Professor Frank Parsons of the Boston University Law School; "Emergency Measures for Maintaining Self-Respected Manhood," by the Editor of the Arena. The Saloon Evil is also discussed in a symposium. One of the strongest papers on Heredity that has appeared in recent years is found in this issue from the pen of Helen H. Gardener. Rev. M. J. Savage appears in a very thoughtful paper on "The Religion of Lowell's Poems;" a fine portrait of Lowell appears as a frontis piece. Dr. James R. Cocke contributes a striking paper on "The Power of the Mind in the Cure of Disease." A strong feature of this number is a brief character sketch by Stephen Crane entitled "An Ominous Baby." Stinson Jarvis' series of brilliant papers on "The Ascent of Life" closes with this issued. The Arena has made steady progress; its circulation having increased during the panic, and it has necessarily been enlarged to 144 pages. There is, also, in addition to this, the book reviews which which cover over twenty pages, making in all a magazine of over 160 pages. The steady increase in circulation of this $5 magazine during a period of unprecedented financial depression shows how deep-rooted and far-reaching is the unrest and social discontent; for this review has steadfastly given audience to the views of the social reformers of the various schools of thought. As a special offer to subcribers of THE CAUCASIAN we can furnish both for one year for $3.50.

"Whom do you consider the greatest inventor of the times?" asked one woman.

"My husband," she replied, proudly.

"You should hear the excuses he gives for coming home at two o'clock in the morning."

EDITOR CAUCASIAN:

I enclose you a card from Ex-Congressman W. H. Kitchin, which he requests me to send to you for publication. His heart has been with the people some time, and he has now taken a bold stand. His card expresses the sentiments of all true Jeffersonian Democrats.

WHAT AN ADVERTISER SAYS.

A One Inch Advertisement in The Caucasian Bringing Excellent Results.

RIDOTT, ILL., March 14, 1894.

THE CAUCASIAN Goldsboro, N. C.

Gentlemen—I am running a one inch ad. in your paper and am getting excellent results. I send you one of my catalogues by mail to-day.

Yours truly,
ALBERT ASKEY.

THAT SCHEDULE.

The present schedule on the Clinton branch road is abominable, to say the least. Some time since the truckers of Clinton petitioned the railroad authorities for two trains a day. This they refused to do, but supplanted a good schedule with the meanest that we have yet endured. This new schedule has worked an injury to truckers as well as an inconvenience to the public generally. The truckers say they did not petition for any such schedule, and that the old one was better for them than is the new one. This being so, why not the citizens of Clinton petition for the old schedule back? Let's petition for a change. What say ye, citizens of Clinton?—Clinton Caucasian.

HE GETS THERE.

"The cinch bug gets the farmer's grain,
The bee moth spoils his honey,
The bed bug fills him full of pain,
But the humbug scoops his money."

To which a brother adds:

"The lightning bug can't thunder much,
The bed bug has no fame,
The gold bug has no argument,
But he gets there just the same."

Have you had your new house insured, Mrs. Dwight?"

"Yes."

"Your husband is afraid of fire, then?"

"Mercy, yes, he will leave the house any time before he will make one."

Historic Houses.

Now that "The Terrace" in Kensington is down or doomed, it seems every house in it once sheltered a celebrity. And yet scarcely any one knew anything about it. It is always the way with historic houses. The "link with the past" paragraph is the first intimation that the past was memorable. When the interest is with us, we don't know it. The Society of Arts has indeed singled out and decorated certain houses—Walpole's in Arlington street, Dryden's in Gerrard street, Mrs. Siddons' at the top of Bakers street, Louis Napoleon's in King street, Thackeray's in Palace Green, but we want many more to be ascertained and notified.

The house where Thackeray wrote "Vanity Fair" is said still to stand in Young street. One of Dickens' last residences is opposite the Marble arch; the house where Goldsmith lived and died is in Brick court, Temple; Charles Wesley's house and William Blake's house can yet be identified. While we have these we don't value them; we don't care to identify them. But when the navvy comes with his basket and his pickaxe, the "link with the past" paragraph goes its round.

In other capitals the great man's memory runs no risk. In Rome there is a marble plaque on the house Sir Walter Scott occupied, in Genoa on O'Connell's hotel, in Florence on Mrs. Browning's casa, in Frankfort on Mozart's lodgings in the Zeil. And yet these are the several recognitions of a foreign interest. We cannot even appreciate our own. The truth is, this duty should devolve on a responsible and continuing body, the board of works or the county council, and not be left to the voluntary effort of a private association like the Society of Arts.—Westminster Gazette.

Wigs.

"All persons," says Sir John Sinclair in his "Code of Health," "ought to wear a wig after 60. It is alike excellent for the old, the tender and the studious." "The invention of wigs," says an old writer, "is of so great use and saves them so much trouble that it can never be laid aside; it helps to disguise the thief, to make an ill face tolerable, the tolerable handsome and to ease the lazy of trouble."

On the other hand, a still older writer, Tertullian, bids those who have wigs consider whether they are likely to go to heaven in such things; moreover, he asked them "how they can be sure that what they are wearing may not be the hair of some damned person or another." The language of "the fathers" seems to have been vigorous; if one "talked like a father" nowadays it would be considered rude.—London Illustrated News.

JERRY SIMPSON BETTER, BUT STILL VERY SICK.

[Washington Post.]

Telegrams were received by some of the Populist members of congress from Topeka, Kan., yesterday, stating that the report was current there that Congressman Jerry Simpson was dead, and asking for particulars. Congressman Davis and several of his colleagues immediately called at Mr. Simpson's house and discovered to their gratification that the report was not only untrue, but that Mr. Simpson's condition has materially improved during the past few days. He is now able to sit up, but he is far from being a well man. He is suffering from a combination of rheumatic and bladder troubles, and as one yields to the physician's treatment, the other becomes aggravated. His condition is serious, but by no means hopeless.

Successful Advertising.

The Secret of Success Through the Medium of the Newspaper.

The success of advertising depends upon the advertiser. He must have goods the people need and offer them in an attractive way. He must have the goods he advertises at the price stated. A "fluke ad." is a poor investment for any business man. Loss of confidence in business announcements means a loss of trade.

All advertising does not pay. There must be judgment used in making investments in advertising space as well as in the purchase of any goods. Advertising is not a one-quality and a one-priced article any more than woollen goods, broadeloths, oranges or meats. The medium for advertising, the circulation and the number of readers must all be considered.

The newspapers of a place are always better than "the occasional opportunity" for announcing bargains, and always give a better return. It is a fair estimate to count five readers for every paper, and the larger the number of papers issued the more valuable the space. The money paid in catch-penny schemes for a single issue is frequent enough to pay for the same space in a good weekly paper for a month.

There is a chance for scholarship, ingenuity, invention, eccentricity and wit in preparing an advertisement; but honesty is always the best trade-mark, and, as it cannot be copy-righted, all are free to use it. Pea Nut, N. C., April 20, '94.

Mr. Editor:—I am a little boy 9 years old. Papa is a People's party man. When Cleveland was elected the first time papa named me for him, but I have asked him to change my name from Grover to something else. I will answer some of the little cousins questions:

Richard Dobbs Speight, Sr., became governor in 1792.

Sir Walter Scott's last words were: "I feel as if I were to be myself again."

Washington was inaugurated in New York, April 30th, 1789.

Zeb Vance was North Carolina's most able representative in congress.

As this is my first letter I trust it will not find its way to the waste basket. I will close by asking a question:

What is Queen Victoria's entire name?

Your little friend,
Grover King.

Troutmans, N. C.

Mr. Editor:—As I have seen so many nice letters in the "Children's Corner" I will try and write one too. Papa takes THE CAUCASIAN and likes it splendid. I enjoy reading the young folks' column very much. I am a farmer's daughter and live on a large farm in the western part of the State. I will ask and answer some questions:

How many kinds of mineral are found in North Carolina?

What great European soldier lived and died in Iredell county?

What word in the English language contains all the vowels?

How many letters are there in the Bible?

Noah was 950 years old when he died.

Moses died on Mt. Nebo.

Jeptha slew his only daughter.

I will close wishing THE CAUCASIAN much success.

Your unknown friend,
Mary Shelton.

Magnolia, N. C., April 28, '94.

Mr. Editor:—It is with pleasure that I write again to the cousins. I think it a good thing that you have given the little folks a column in your excellent paper to communicate with each other. It stirs up our minds and then by enlightens us of some things that is necessary to know. Now, little cousins, let's try to keep that column full of letters every week. I will ask a few questions, hoping the little cousins will answer them:

What verse in the Bible contains all the letters of the alphabet except the letter "j"?

W. B. Rivenbark.

THREE FROM ONE COUNTY.

Jarvis' Appointment Recalls Some History

The appointment of ex-Governor Jarvis to succeed Senator Vance and he being from the Eastern part of the State, the same section in which lives Ransom, recalls some history which may be familiar to many of the old inhabitants of not only Durham, but the State. The year 1840 was a presidential year and it was made memorable between the Whigs and Democrats by "log cabin and cider campaign."

That year there were two Senators to be sent from this State. Both of these Senators were selected from Orange, of which Durham county was then a part. These Senators were W. A. Graham and Wiley P. Mangum. The Congressman from this district was Dr. William Montgomery, and he was also from this same county of Orange.

Another remarkable incident about it was that Jimmie Carmichael, a tailor living at Hillsboro, took their measure at the same time, and made all three a suit of clothes apiece, to wear to Washington. These are incidents that many of our people have probably forgotten. —Durham Sun.

WHO FORGED IT?

[Winston Republican.]

The Durham Globe, commenting upon U. S. District Attorney Glenn's recent letter to revenue officers in regard to seizures aptly remarks, that while Mr. Glenn is in the mood of publishing letters the people of the State would be very much more interested if he will give them President Cleveland's free silver letter which he read on his campaign in 1892 with Mary Ann Butler. Mr. Cleveland pronounces this letter a forgery, we are informed, and the people now so believe it to have been. The question yet to be settled is, who forged it?

CHAPTER THIRD CONTINUED.

"Say I'll be along in a minute," was his reply, but he sighed and swore heavily as he slowly reascended the stair. "Give me another dhrink, smut," he ordered Ananias, disregarding Ferry's suggestion: "Better drink no more till after dark." Then, swallowing his potion, he went lurching down the steps without another word. Ferry and Pierce stepped to the gallery and gazed silently after him as he veered around to the gate leading to the old war hospital inclosure where the battery was quartered. Already his walk was perceptibly unsteady.

"Keeps his head pretty well, even after his legs are gone," said Ferry. "Knows too much to go by the sally-port. He's sneaking out through the back gate."

"Why, what does he go out there for, when he has the run of Waring's sideboard?"

"Oh, didn't you hear? She sent for him."

"That's it, is it? Sometimes I wonder which one of those two will kill the other."

"Oh, he wouldn't dare. That fellow is an abject coward in the dark. He believes in ghosts, spooks, banshees and wraiths—everything uncanny—and she'd haunt him if he laid his hands on her. There's only one thing that he'd be more afraid of than Bridget Doyle living, and that would be Bridget Doyle dead."

"Why can't he get rid of her? What hold has she on him? This thing's an infernal scandal as it stands. She's only been here a month or so, and everybody in garrison knows all about her, and these doughboys don't make any bones about chaffing us on our lady friends."

"Well, everybody supposed he had got rid of her years ago. He shook her when he was made first sergeant, just before the war. Why, I've heard some of the old stagers say there wasn't a finer looking soldier in all the regiment than Jim Doyle when he married that specimen at Brownsville. Doyle, too, supposed she was dead until after he got his commission, then she reappeared and laid claim to him. It would have been an easy enough matter five years ago to prove she had forfeited all rights, but now he can't. Then she's got some confounded hold on him, I don't know what, but it's killing the poor beggar. Good thing for the regiment, though; so let it go."

"Oh, I don't care a rap how soon we're rid of him or her—the sooner the better; only I hate to hear these fellows laughing and sneering about Mrs. Doyle." And here the young fellow hesitated. "Ferry, you know I'm as fond of Sam Waring as any of you. I liked him better than any man in his class when we wore the gray. When they were yearlings we were plebes, and devilled and tormented by them most unmercifully day and night. I took to him then for his kindly, jolly ways. No one ever knew him to say or do a cross or brutal thing. I liked him more every year, and missed him when he was graduated. I rejoiced when he got his transfer to us. It's because I like him so much that I hate to hear these fellows making their little flings now!"

"What flings?" said Ferry.

"Well, you know as much as I do. You've heard as much, too, I haven't a doubt."

"Nobody's said anything about Sam Waring in my hearing that reflected on him in any way worth speaking of," said Ferry, yet not very stoutly.

"Not on him so much, perhaps, as the world looks at this sort of thing, but on her. She's young, pretty, married to a man years her senior, a snuffy, frowzy old Frenchman. She's alone with her child and one or two servants from early morning till late evening, and with that weazened little monkey of a man the rest of the time. The only society she sees is the one or two gossipy old women of both sexes who live along the levee here. The only enjoyment she has is when she can get to her mother's up in town, or run up to the opera when she can get Lascelles to take her. That old mummy cares nothing for music and less for the dance; she loves both, and so does Waring. Monsieur le Mari goes out into the foyer between the acts to smoke his cigarette and gossip with other relics like himself. Waring has never missed a night she happened to be there for the last six weeks. I admit he is there many a time when she is not, but after he's had a few words with the ladies in the general's box, what becomes of him? I don't know, because I'm seldom there, but Dryden and Taggart and Jack Merton, of the infantry, can tell you. He is sitting by her in the D'Hervilly loge grillee and going over the last act with her and rhapsodizing about Verdi, Bellini, Mozart, or Gounod—Gounod especially and the garden scene from 'Faust.'"

"Isn't her mother with her, and, being in mourning, doesn't she have to stay in her latticed loge instead of promenading in the foyer and drinking that two-headaches-for-a-picayune punch?" queried Ferry, eager for a diversion.

"Suppose she is," answered Pierce, stoutly. "I'm a crank—straight-laced, if you like. It's the fault of my bringing up. But I know, and you know, that that little woman, in her loneliness and in her natural longing for some congenial spirit to commune with, is simply falling madly in love with Sam Waring, and there will be tragedy here before we can stop it."

"See here Pierce," asked Ferry, "do you suppose Mrs. Cram would be so loyal a friend to Waring if she thought there was anything wrong in his attentions to Mme. Lascelles? Do you suppose Cram himself wouldn't speak?"

"He has spoken."

"He has? To whom?"

"To me, three days ago; said I had known Waring longest and best, perhaps was his most intimate friend, and he though I ought to warn him of what people were say ing."

"What have you done?"

"Nothing yet; simply because I know Sam Waring so well that I know just what he'd do—go and pull the nose of the man who gossiped about him and her. Then we'd have a fight on our hands."

"Well, we can fight, I suppose, can't we?"

"Not without involving a woman's name."

"Oh, good Lord, Pierce, was there ever a row without a woman au fond?"

"That's a worm-eaten witticism, Ferry, and you're too decent a fellow, as a rule, to be cynical. I've got to speak to Waring, and I don't know how to do it. I want your advice."

"Well, my advice is Punch's: 'Don't.' Hello! here's Dryden. Thought you were on court duty up at headquarters to-day, old man. Come in and have a wet?" Mr. Ferry had seen some happy days at Fortress Monroe when the ships of her majesty's navy lay off the Hygeia and the gallants of England lay to at the bar, and Ferry rejoiced in the vernacular of the united service, so far as he could learn it, as practiced abroad.

"Thanks. Just had one over at Merton's. Hear you've been having review and all that sort of thing down here," said the infantryman, as he lolled back in an easy-chair and planted his boot-heels on the gallery rail. "Glad I got out of it. Court met and adjourned at ten, so I came home. How'd Waring get off?"

"Huh!—Cram's wagon." laughed Ferry, rather uncomfortably, however.

"Oh, Lord, yes, I know that. Didn't I see him driving Mme. Lascelles up Rampart street as I came down in the mule car?"

And then Pierce and Ferry looked at each other, startled.

That evening, therefore, it was a comfort to both when Sam came tooling the stylish turnout through the sally-port and his battery chums caught sight of the Allertons. Pierce was just returning from stables and Ferry was smoking a pipe of perique on the broad gallery, and both hastened to don their best jackets and doff their best caps to these interesting and interested callers. Cram himself had gone out for a ride and a think. He always declared his ideas were clearer after a gallop. The band played charmingly. The ladies came out and made a picturesque croquet party on the green carpet of the parade. The officers clustered about and offered laughing wagers on the game. A dozen romping children were playing joyously around the tall flagstaff. The air was rich with the fragrance of the magnolia and Cape jasmine, and glad with music and soft and merry voices. Then the stirring bugles rang out their lively summons to the batterymen beyond the wall. The drums of the infantry rolled and rattled their echoing clamor. The guard sprang into rank, and their muskets, glistening in the slanting beams of the setting sun, clashed in simultaneous "present" to the red-sashed officer of the day, and that official raised his plumed hat to the lieutenant with the lovely girl by his side and the smiling elders on the back seat as the team once more made the circuit of the post on the back trip to town, and Miss Flora Allerton clasped her hands and looked enthusiastically up into her escort's face.

"Oh," she cried, "isn't it all just too lovely for anything! Why, I think your life here must be like a dream."

But Miss Allerton, as Mrs. Cram had said, sometimes gushed, and life at Jackson barracks was no such dream as it appeared.

The sun went down red and angry far across the tawny flood of the rushing river. The night lights were set at the distant bend below. The stars came peeping through a shifting filmy veil. The big trees on the levee and about the flanking towers began to whisper and complain and creak, and the rising wind sent long wisps of straggly cloud racing across the sky. The moon rose pallid and wan, hung for awhile over the dense black mass of moss-grown cypress in the eastward swamp, then hid her face behind a heavy bank of clouds, as though reluctant to look upon the wrath to come, for a storm was rising fast and furious to break upon and deluge old Jackson barracks.

Paw Creek, N. C., April 23, '94.

MR. EDITOR:—It is a burning shame that an American should even have reason for suspicion of unfair and dishonest election methods. But when it is an open and standing fact that such must be the case by law or no election. Yes, no election, as the law provides for a dishonest count and but little else, we shudder, but hold and claim the right to fight and despise the decree and its prop.

If I were a preacher and had in my church a member mean enough to act as registrar under the direction of the Democratic party office seekers and bosses I would swear that that member was perishing for the want of an honest, God-fearing pastor and I would resign unanimously and forever.

Really I don't see the propriety in advertising for a just impossibility. We can't have a fair and honest election. But here is my plan for deliverance:

Let every voter, who has sense enough, make up his mind right now to be an honest man, then go to those who are willing to be men, if they know how, and tell them of their determination for right and justice at the ballot box, giving his reason, and the count will be much fairer at the next election.

MR. EDITOR:—Will you allow one of the "gentle sex" to enter the contest for the $26 you offer for the best plan to break up the election frauds?

I am not very well versed in politics but it seems to me that the following will do much towards breaking up the frauds in our State and National elections;

See that all voters are properly registered by having a committee appointed to attend to this very important matter, place honest reform literature in the hands of the people, to educate them; and above all things else, let the voters themselves see to it that the election judges are men fair and honorable enough to make the "ballot free and the counting fair."

There are good and fair men in every township, of course, and the people know them and they should see to it that such men are made the judges. Of course, perfectly honest elections cannot be expected under the present law.

TO THE CAUCASIAN:

The following preamble and resolutions were adopted unanimously by Rockingham County Farmers' Alliance in session at its county seat April 12th, 1894:

Whereas, We find in our republic a great hankering and thirst for office, and much store is laid on party service as meriting office, and

Whereas, Public opinion is industriously manufactured in opposition to all public men who for any account, or for any cause vote against the nominee, and forthwith are impeached, condemned, and debased from holding office in the gift of the party, and

Whereas, Any man who may have served the public placed in office by the vote of any party and chooses to exercise his right as a free citizen and cast an independent vote is denominated an ungrateful wretch, and

Whereas, Our law makers, bolstered by the machine, arrogate the part of rulers, and pass laws as rules. Therefore, be it resolved by the Rockingham County Alliance

1st, That the high salaries for public officials are dangerous and corrupting, and should be reduced to a level with private enterprises.

2nd, That party service is generally of such a debasing character as to drive our best men from the political field, and instead of meriting office, merit our sincere condemnation.

3rd That the independent voter from his own best judgment, who forms his own opinion of men and measures, and votes accordingly is praiseworthy; but a man who votes for party without consulting his own judgment is a base fool, either from ignorance, prejudice or selfishness, and the promoter of all political crime, corruption in office and bad laws.

4th, That public officials are hired agents of the people and not rulers, and all acts of theirs as rulers are acts of tyranny.

5th, That the law, either as the edicts of despots, acts of our law making bodies, is the source of all tyranny, and no congress or legislature has a right to pass any law greatly affecting the interest of the people as the demonetization of silver and others without their knowledge and consent.

6th, That a hired agent of the people who does his duty to the people settles all claims the public may have upon him, and he owes no debt of gratitude to any party unless the same is working for a party at an unmerited price, and not for the people.

7th, That the evils of which we complain are fruits of plutocracy, together with many more, and we believe that the experiment of self government must prove a failure unless they are vigorously combated.

8th, That the Secretary be authorized to publish these resolutions.

A. J. HUDSON, Pres.
T. B. LINDSAY, Secretary.

Mr. Editor—Please find space in your excellent paper to tell your readers that Chatham County Alliance convened with Mt. Pisgah Sub-Alliance April 12th, and that after attending to the business pertaining to the Alliance, all were invited to the grove where was a table too long to be measured and too well filled to be described. After enjoying a hearty repast the crowd re-assembled and listened to some excellent speaking. Brethren Spence, Stroud, Atwater and others addressed us. While Bro. W. F. Stroud was speaking, we were impressed with the idea that he should represent us in the next congress. Bro. S. is looking well, and we believe if nominated for congress again, he will lead us to victory.

But, I must say that Mt. Pisgah is in Williams township near the Wake county line, and a nobler set of gentlemen and ladies is yet to be found than live in that community. Our only regret was that we could not stay longer with them.

With best wishes for you in your great work, I am with you till victory is won. R. H. Dixon.

Moore County.

Villanow, N. C., April 14, '94.

Mr. Editor—The following preamble and resolutions was adopted by the Moore County Farmers' Alliance:

Whereas, Our Secretary of the Treasury, under directions of our National President of the U. S., has issued and sold bonds to the amount of $50,000,000 and recommends a further issue to the amount of $200,000,000 without legal authority in time of peace, thereby fastening upon us indebtedness to be paid with interest in gold for the sole benefit of bankers and money sharks; therefore, we, the members of Villanow Sub-Alliance, No. 121, enter our solemn protest and condemn said action in unmeasured terms.

Resolved, (1st) That we petition our Congressmen and Senators to do all in their power to prevent a further issuance of bonds.

Second—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the County meeting for endorsement, and to the Carthage Free Press, THE CAUCASIAN and Progressive Farmer for publication. Respectfully submitted.

J. F. King, B. D. Caviness, J. M. Tyson, Committee.
J. M. Tyson, Sec'y-Treas.

AN APPEAL.

Epworth, N. C., April 30, '94.

MR. EDITOR:—On the night of the 27th inst. by the cowardly work of an incendiary the barns and stables belonging to Bro. L. L. Lyon and other members of his family, containing some 200 barrels of corn, a quantity of fodder and other stuff, were destroyed by fire. Their loss is estimated at some $800 to $1,000 with no insurance. Bro. Lyon is a member of sub-alliance No. 482, Maple Swamp, and also Lecturer of Edgecombe county Alliance. An Alliancenan of true worth and an ardent worker in the cause of reform and the entire family are among our best people and this their loss is a serious one. I, therefore, request the readers of THE CAUCASIAN and especiallly Alliancemen, to contribute something to aid these good people to recover from such a loss. Every one knows the condition the farmers of North Carolina are in, so it is needless for me to say that a loss of this kind falls heavily upon them.

We trust the sub-alliances of the State will consider this matter at their next meeting and send in a liberal contribution to Bro. Lyon whose address is Epworth, N. C. We feel there is no way in which we can show our fraternal feeling more forcibly than responding to a call of this kind.

The above is written without any request whatever on the part of Bro. Lyon or any member of his family. Progressive Farmer will please copy.

Fraternally yours,
J. B. LATHAM,
Pres. Edgecombe Co. Alliance.

CORRESPONDENCE.

Rands Mills, N. C., May 1, '94.

EDITOR THE CAUCASIAN:

I reside in the neighborhood of Bryan's Grove, near Auburn, Wake county, N. C., where two years ago this summer you made impressions on the minds of the body politic that will not be soon erased, but often referred to with pleasure by those of us who think the welfare of our country demands the services of a new party, in this great reform movement in the interest of the agricultural and industrial classes. We rejoice that we have a pioneer leader able to vindicate the justice of our cause, notwithstanding the partisan press denounces him in unmeasured terms. Knowing whereof I speak I say to you Mr. Editor, that the revolution in the interest of reform has not gone backward or abated, as will be evinced in a few more months when Wall street dogmas and tenets must give away before a tidal wave of indignation. I want your paper justly called THE CAUCASIAN. It is putting in motion a campaign of of education which will sooner or later revolutionize political thought in every section of our country where it disseminates its truths. It is a leader of thought, daily leading the masses out of darkness, ingrafting its fearless Editor into the love of its fellow countrymen. Long may it live and enjoy rewards it so justly deserves. You will find my name among a list of subscribers just gotten up in this community.

Yours truly,
W. H. RAND.

STOKES COUNTY.

The Democratic party seems to be busted and I can't see nothing left for us to do now but join the People's party and restore our government to the people from whom the old parties has betrayed it in the hands of wicked plutocrats.

Yours fraternally,
J. G. H. MITCHELL.

Attorney R. B. Glenn has written an open letter to revenue officers. But this couldn't be half as interesting as the letter Mr. Cleveland wrote to Mr. Glenn during the last campaign.—Durham Globe.

The Pastille FOR WEAK MEN

Made so by too close application to business severe mental strain, Sexual Excesses in middle life, or vicious habits contracted in youth. WEAK MEN are victims to Nervous Debility or Exhaustion, Wasting Weakness, Involuntary Losses with Early Decay in Young and Middle Aged lack of vigor and strength, with sexual organs impaired and weakened prematurely in approaching old age. WHEN WE CAN CURE you speak from knowledge of results in many thousand cases treated and cured in the past fifteen years.

Our method of introducing Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLE treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. Nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp is asked. The postal card for use in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with question blank, to be filled out, and a self-addressed envelope for use in returning it when filled.

Free TRIAL When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days, treatment and forward it by mail prepaying postage. Along with the treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment causes no pain or inconvenience and does not prevent attention to business.

We leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied these people of the merits of our ability to benefit them we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastille and make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $3.00 for one month; $5.00 for two months; $7.00 for three months.

We ask all persons needing treatment to send their address on postal or by letter. All communications confidential and should be addressed to THE HARRIS REMEDY CO., Mfg. Chemists
